

Surveying

A big part of our business is site surveying, so naturally we are very good at it and have all the right tools and equipment to provide the best possible results.

Using the latest equipment such as laser levels, electronic distance measurers, theodolite, we can obtain a survey to a amazing accuracy if the job calls for it, with the help of digital cameras and the technology of video clips not much escapes our attention and scrutiny for a thorough job.

All planning permission jobs need a basic detailed survey carried out and most steel jobs need a thorough survey undertaken which can range from measuring tops of walls to structural slab levels and pitches of stairs.

All surveys are issued with the final product and any other paperwork including written approvals included as well as any digital photos taken burnt on to a disc.

As always we are the professionals on site with regard to health and safety, personal protective equipment is always worn when on a building site and all the rules adhered too. When visiting a client for planning permission we are always smartly dressed and on time. For more information or quotations on the above.
